'Unplugged' Christmas Presents: buy Jigsaws or Guess Who?

Staff have been receiving a lot of training this term about helping children 'remember more and do more' as there is now a lot of research to help us help children. One training session shared the value of jigsaw puzzles which children may be doing less and less but are brilliant for development and could be a great stocking filler for Christmas. Jigsaws (from nursery to 99!) are fantastic tools to help brain development: problem solving; searching for information; matching; patterns; resilience; logical reasoning (not just trial and error); taking a step by step approach. These skills support in so many subjects like maths and computing. Another great resource is the game Guess Who?....children love this and it so good for logical thinking. Just a thought to help families 'unplug' the devices and do things as a family.

Celebrating Reading

Reading

Well done for those that are reading 4 x or more a week and logging it in reading diaries. Please keep regular reading and enjoyment of books a high priority.

Why do we ‘harp on’ about reading at least 4 times per week? The results of a recent study shows just how important reading for pleasure at a young age is (and why we ‘harp on’ about it!).

In the study published in June of this year in Psychological Medicine, a research team compared young people who began reading for pleasure at a relatively early age (between two and nine years old) against those who began doing so later or not at all.

The team found a strong link between reading for pleasure at an early age and a positive performance in adolescence on cognitive tests that measured factors such as verbal learning, memory and speech development, and academic achievement at school.

When the researchers looked at brain scans from the adolescent cohort, they found that those participants who had taken to reading for pleasure at an early age showed moderately larger total brain areas and volumes, including in particular brain regions that play critical roles in cognitive functions. These children also had better mental wellbeing, showing fewer signs of stress and depression, as well as improved attention and fewer behavioural problems such as aggression and rule-breaking.

Professor Barbara Sahakian from the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Cambridge said: “Reading isn’t just a pleasurable experience – it’s widely accepted that it inspires thinking and creativity, increases empathy and reduces stress. But on top of this, we found significant evidence that it’s linked to important developmental factors in children, improving their cognition, mental health, and brain structure, which are cornerstones for future learning and well-being.”

Professor Jianfeng Feng from Fudan University in Shanghai, China, and the University of Warwick, UK, said: “We encourage parents to do their best to awaken the joy of reading in their children at an early age. Done right, this will not only give them pleasure and enjoyment, but will also help their development and encourage long-term reading habits, which may also prove beneficial into adult life.”

Our Worship/Reflections this week:

Monday: We continued our theme of service with the story of the widow and Elijah. We reflected on how much we get from giving but that it is also okay to say yes to help.

Tuesday: We reflected on advent as the season of hope and expectation. Children reflected on what they valued and hoped for.

Open the book bought us the story of the journey to Bethlehem and we reflected on the meaning of Christmas to Christians.

Thursday: We considered the volcanic activity in Iceland and what helps us cope with uncertain times.

What's happening in the news this week?

Let's have a look at this week's poster!

Emergency Closures: Winter Weather Arrangements

As we head deeper into the winter period we would like to remind parents of the procedure if we need to close the school (due to severe weather, damage to school buildings, loss of utility supplies, difficulty in accessing the site to make it safe). Closure will always be as a last resort to ensure the safety of staff and students. Schools are expected to stay open unless there is no other sensible option than to close and staff know that travel to work / school is regarded by both the police and the Council's Highways Management as an essential journey. However, there maybe times when the school feels it is unsafe to be open or needs a delayed start to give more time for staff to travel safely.

- Decisions will be made and communicated by 7am at the latest.
- Decisions to close will be sent by email and will be announced on Shropshire Radio (Frequency: 96MHz, 90 MHz, 95 MHz, 104.1 MHz)
