Cauliflower Cards

We are once again participating in the 'Christmas Design Project' run by Cauliflower Cards. This project aims to encourage pupil's creativity and design skills whilst raising funds for our school.

Not only would it be very exciting for your child to see his/her work as a finished printed product, but the cards themselves are also great for sending a more personal greeting to friends and family at Christmas.

The artwork, which has been set as optional homework, must be either A5 or A4 in size, either landscape or portrait. Siblings may want to complete a collaborative piece of artwork together. Once completed, please attach the art work to the A3 order form which was sent home with the children earlier this week. Please do not use staples, paperclips or Sellotape as it may spoil the artwork.

How to order:

Please visit <https://www.cauliflowercards.co.uk/christmas-project> for ideas.

Using your unique code at the top of your order form. Payments must be made online. Please refer to your order form for further instructions or the website.

All artwork for placed orders must be handed into school by Friday 27th September 2024.

Each order form is unique, so please do not photocopy the form for other members of your family to use, you can however get extra copies from the school office.

FoSPS - Parent Survey

All families of pupils at our school are members of the PTA - FoSPS.

The FoSPS committee are keen to know your thoughts on how FoSPS can benefit your child(ren) at school and would be very grateful if you could please take a moment to fill out this survey:

<https://form.jotform.com/fosps96/fosps-parent-survey-form>

The survey is a simple 10 question tick box form that takes 1-2 minutes.

Our Worship / Reflections this week:

Monday: We revisited the eatwell/healthy plate and the importance of eating a balanced diet. Children are praised at lunchtime for eating all of the food on their plate (not just the favourite parts)

Tuesday: We thought about where our food comes from (local harvest and around the world). We reflected on how lucky we were to have such wide ranging foods in our diet and for people all over the world that work to harvest and produce our food.

Wednesday: Open the book restarted with the story of Creation. We reflected and gave thanks for all the wonderful things parts of our planet that we appreciate and love.

Thursday: We reflected on the importance of manners (please, thankyou, opening doors, after you, waiting to talk) and used the story 'How to Teach a Dragon Manners' to help us see that this is also being grateful for the effort when other people do things for us.

Autumn 1 Term: Once Upon a Time

Thank you for a lovely week, Reception, you have settled into our school very well. I have been so impressed with how independent you all trying to be, carrying your lunch tray at lunchtime, attempting to zip up your coat at breaktimes and using the toilets independently - what a fantastic start! This week we have started our topic work, we have learnt that fairytales are stories from a long time ago, sometimes based in castles, castles are old homes for a royal family, Kings, Queens, Princes, and Princess are names for people in the royal family. We have also learnt that our King is called King Charles III.

Our school policy is that children read at home four times; this is to develop fluency and their comprehension skills. While the children are on wordless books, we will only ask for their book to be read twice and the other two reads can be their sharing book. Please record reads in your child's reading record.

Supporting children to manage conflict effectively

10 Top Tips for Parents and Educators
SUPPORTING CHILDREN TO MANAGE CONFLICT EFFECTIVELY

Disagreement is a natural part of human interaction. This can seem particularly true when dealing with the sensitive issues that arise for secondary-aged pupils. This guide brings you 10 top tips which can help prevent conflicts arising or mitigate their impacts when they do.

- 1 INSPIRE RESPONSIBILITY
The best approaches to conflict resolution are those that empower children to solve their own problems. This means that rather than imposing their own solutions on children who have not yet developed the skills to solve their own problems, allowing them to handle it on their own empowers them to manage people and disputes as they move towards adulthood.
- 2 ACTIVELY LISTEN
Remember to give every child the opportunity to voice their opinion, regardless of their age, stage of development or background. Listen to what they have to say and encourage them to express their views in a variety of different communication methods. The importance of listening is that it is a key to resolving any conflict by being understanding and empathetic, while being gentle with their own views.
- 3 BE CURIOUS
Communicating better to approach conflicts with a mature and empathetic manner can lead to good results for everyone. Listen to what they have to say and be curious about their views. Ask them to explain their views and listen to what they have to say. Be curious about their views and listen to what they have to say. Be curious about their views and listen to what they have to say.
- 4 PROMOTE DIFFERENCES
Children and young people may come from a range of different backgrounds and cultures or have different experiences. It is important to promote differences and encourage children to understand and respect differences. This includes promoting diversity of opinion, respect people and their views and understand.
- 5 BE SUPPORTIVE
Disagreements may be sensitive to, in some cases, even trigger negative emotions. Pupils may have mixed feelings about the issue of being. They should be encouraged to talk about it and create a space where all parties feel safe. Encourage children to talk about it and create a space where all parties feel safe. Encourage children to talk about it and create a space where all parties feel safe.
- 6 MENTALLY PREPARE
Think of how you can approach the conflict in a calm and regulated manner. Consider taking some steps to prepare beforehand and having a conversation with the child. If you are already in a conversation with a child, think about how to be a good listener and do the same for the young people involved. It is important to remember that physical aggression can trigger dysregulation, which can make it much harder to have a calm, productive conversation.
- 7 GET YOUR FACTS STRAIGHT
Make sure you have all the facts, figures and details of the situation prior to the discussion. This should be done as objectively as possible with the aim of understanding the ongoing issue. You may need to take account of any problems that may arise and look for possible solutions during your preparation time.
- 8 STICK TO THE POINT
Before the session for the purpose of any meetings or conversations, think about what you want to achieve. Provide an agenda. Act as a neutral mediator and one that is not taking sides. Make sure everyone has a chance to do their own thing and to be heard. Stick to the point and do not get sidetracked by other issues. Stick to the point and do not get sidetracked by other issues.
- 9 BE SOLUTION FOCUSED
It is often said that the art of diplomacy is about giving others a reason to follow down. This means the motivation of any meeting or conversation should be to find a solution to the problem and to find a way forward. It is important to focus on the solution and not on the problem. It is important to focus on the solution and not on the problem.
- 10 DON'T IGNORE OR AVOID CONFLICT
See the benefits from allowing concerns and disagreements to be heard. This can lead to further discussion and resolution, and ultimately leads to a better understanding of the situation. This should help you find a solution to the problem and to find a way forward.
